HONORARY DEGREES

DOCTOR OF LAWS

Henry White Edgerton

Henry W. Edgerton, Associate Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, is a native of Rush Center, Kansas. He is a graduate of Cornell University and the Harvard Law School, and has formerly served as a practicing attorney and as a faculty member at Cornell, the University of Chicago and George Washington University. He is now in his 26th year as a judge of the District's appellate court.

Judge Edgerton's first appointment to the bench came in 1937, when he was named Associate Judge. He became Chief Judge in 1955, but resigned that post in October, 1958, on reaching the age of 70. He has continued to serve the court as Associate Judge, however.

The noted jurist has been honored on many occasions for his work, particularly his opinions in cases involving civil liberties. Much of his work on this subject appears in the volume Freedom in the Balance: Opinions of Judge Henry W. Edgerton Relating to Civil Liberties, published by the Cornell University Press in 1960.

DOCTOR OF LITERATURE

Langston Hughes

Langston Hughes, novelist, playwright and poet, is a native of Joplin, Missouri and a graduate of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania. Most of his literary works have been devoted to the life and folk lore of the American Negro. Among his books are Langston Hughes Reader, One Way Ticket, Fields of Wonder, Simple, Simple Speaks His Mind, Black Nativity, the Ways of White Folks, and A History of the NAACP.

In addition to his books, both fiction and non-fiction, Mr. Hughes's work includes poetry, plays, and lyrics for musical compositions. He is a member of the American Academy of Letters, National Institute of Arts and Letters, Author's Guild, Dramatist's Guild, and the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP).

In 1960 the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People conferred its highest citation, the Spingarn Medal, upon Mr. Hughes.

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Samuel Milton Nabrit

Samuel M. Nabrit, President of Texas Southern University, is a native of Macon, Georgia who is now in his eighth year as head of the Houston institution. He is a graduate of Morehouse College in Atlanta, and holds the Master of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degrees in zoology from Brown University.

Dr. Nabrit began his teaching career in 1925 at Morehouse, where he served for six years. He then joined the faculty of Atlanta University as professor and head of the Department of Biology, a post which he held until assuming his present position in 1955. During his last eight years at Atlanta he also served as dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Nabrit is a member of the National Advisory Committee to the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and of the Corporation of the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass. He also has served as president of the National Institute of Science and the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, member of the National Science Board and the board of the American Council on Education, and consultant to the National Science Foundation. He is a former research fellow in biology at the University of Brussels in Belgium.
